Rice Price - Weekly

Situation for the Week Ending September 10, 2010

Report Highlights:

Exporters' rice price offers were slightly lower than those of the last two weeks, due mainly to the near-complete absence of export demand, which was quiet because Vietnam's rice prices were not competitive compared to those of Thailand.

Local paddy prices went up early last week, but decreased again toward the end of the week due to the slowing buying demand from rice exporters.
